

NOTES FROM A CITY EDITOR'S DAYBOOK—Newspaper city rooms are full of anecdotes, stories of curious happenings that never get in print and, surprisingly enough, seldom shared with others outside the cult.

This is one that involves the celebrated William Heirens case—the Heirens who distributed the dismembered body of little Suzanne Degnan throughout the North Side sewer system in Chicago. How it happened upon our city room can only be attributed to a newspaper's search for a "new angle."

It goes like this: ACTUALLY THE Heirens case was almost wrapped up, a newspaper term, before it struck us. The incident I relate happened sometime between the time the law seized the University of Chicago student and the point where the Chicago Tribune literally bought an exclusive—the first confession of Heirens directly from the state's attorney's office.

But the story was still "live." It had city editors beating the bushes for "new angles." It was newstand dynamite, every single morsel.

IT FIRST TOUCHED our town when, during the investigation, it developed that Heirens attended a nearby. However he it that he was an ordinary student, sent there by his parents to be under the guiding wing of good Benedictine fathers, the school faculty shuddered one day to see their quiet, peaceful educational institution referred to as a "reform school."

This academy wasn't a "reform school," a fact to which I can attest. But by the time the good priests could collect their wits and solemnly draft an indictment, but lengthy, demand for a retraction, the storm had passed them by, new "angles" had blotted them from the picture, and the retraction, to my knowledge, has yet to appear in print. Such was the fury of the chase.

BUT TO THE incident at hand. The Chicago Daily News in casting about for a new angle, fell upon a tiny incident in Heirens' life which they thought worthy of a run. When had he dated in the University of Chicago years? was this periodic killer a gracious companion? A sort of Jekyll-Hyde chap? Running down the lead they discovered he had dated a student during the murders—a girl we shall call Betty and who, unhappily, was from our town.

It was to our city room's astonishment when we read in the Daily News a purported interview with Betty in which we recollect her being quoted as saying, "Bill (Heirens) held me ever so lightly when we danced."

This interview with "Betty" replete with other details of a quite normal college association, was re-written by us for local consumption. Then the storm broke.

"BETTY," a beautiful brunette, appeared in our city room the next morning. Right behind was her father.

City Council Rezones Raymond Coal Yard

Vaile Objects To Proposal; Defeated 4-1

Commissioners Uphold Verdict Of Zoning Board

Dixon's city council last night approved the recommendation of the zoning commission to rezone the coal yard at 700 Brinton av., in accord with the petition of Donald B. Raymond.

In a 4-1 vote favoring the motion, the council declared the property to be commercial, not residential. The coal yard had been non-conforming property in a residential district since the present zoning ordinance became law in 1938.

Commissioners C. L. Ballard, Carl F. Plowman, L. J. Welch, and Mayor William V. Slothower favored amending the zoning ordinance. Commissioner Joseph E. Vaile opposed.

Vaile objected because he didn't think it was a function of the city council. In such a matter, people have recourse to the courts, said Vaile.

Questions Legality He further questioned the legality of amending the old zoning ordinance claiming that in doing so the protection given by it to citizens is destroyed.

"If we rezone this property," said Vaile, "we might as well junk the zoning law."

City Attorney Gerald Jones claimed that amending the zoning ordinance is legal, and that it provided for methods for its own amendment.

Citizens can petition the council for rezoning whereby a commission of three citizens are selected to study the problem and to advise the council. Fifteen days notice is given the public to object, or to recommend council action. Finally, the council can vote for or against a petition.

According to Jones, people objecting to council action have recourse to a zoning board of appeals and then to the circuit court.

People Oppose Vaile "Why visit on the people something they don't want?" asked Commissioner Vaile.

In the past, he contended, although the old zoning ordinance was altered, such was done with the approval of the people involved. Twenty-five or more people object to rezoning the coal yard.

Mayor Slothower corrected Vaile stating that this wouldn't be the first time property was rezoned over the objections of interested parties.

Commissioner Ballard had no objections to the property being commercialized, but he objected to the way it was being commercialized.

"The reason we're voting on this is kind of a rush deal," said Ballard.

The planning board didn't vote one way or the other on it. But, because any change in a coal yard would be a help, and because he felt that in court both judge and jury would declare a coal yard commercial property, Ballard saw little reason to oppose it.

"What would you do with it if it wasn't commercial?" asked Commissioner Welch. "No one would want a residence there."

Vaile held his ground claiming that the old ordinance provided ample residential and commercial space for expansion. The ordinance was a law to protect citizens from infringement, he said.

In answer to Vaile's query of the (Continued on Page 8)

School Locker Bid Goes To Lindquist Firm Here

A contract for installation of nearly 2,000 lockers and locker boxes in Dixon's two new grade schools was awarded George Lindquist Construction company by the Dixon school board last night.

Lindquist's bid of $19,790 was low of the three bids submitted. The contract also calls for 977 built-in lockers, 1,006 padlocks and benches for locker rooms.

The accepted bid broken down: For 977 corridor lockers, $10,570; for 156 locker room lockers and 850 locker boxes, $3,700; for locker room benches, $800; for 977 built-in lockers, $2,730, and for 1,006 padlocks, $1,890.

Other firms bidding on the project were Lyon Metal Co., Aurora; John B. Platt, Sterling, and Fred Medard, Chicago.

The lockers and other equipment are to be installed in Washington and Jefferson schools, which are expected to be completed by next September.

The Lindquist company also was granted a contract for installing a transformer vault at Jefferson school for $2,811. Wiring at the school previously was planned to enter the building from overhead.

The change to underground entrance represents an estimated additional cost of $2,236.

An approval was given payment of an $8 boiler inspection fee to the Public Safety department at Springfield.

Arthur Nelson, former meter superintendent of the Illinois Northern division of Public Service Co., has sold his residence at 301 Peoria av. to Mike Lazarus.

The Nelsons moved to Sheboygan, Wis., Wednesday.

Master Paintings Stolen

BARDSTOWN, Ky. — Nine centuries-old paintings, including three attributed to world famous old masters, were taken Wednesday night from St. Joseph's Cathedral.

The thieves left undisturbed some gold candlesticks, five other paintings identified, as masterpieces, and other valuable property. St. Joseph's is the second oldest cathedral in the nation and the oldest west of the Alleghenies.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. James H. Willett, pastor, said the collection had a "priceless value." He said he wouldn't attempt to set their value.

The three most valuable missing works are listed as "The Flagging of St. Bartholomew," by Rubens; "The Crowning of the Blessed Virgin," by Murillo, and "The Descent of the Holy Ghost," by Van Eyck.

Dr. Justus Bier, art professor at the University of Louisville, said a single painting by Rubens has a market value of up to $15,000.

Sen. Bricker Wants H-Bomb Security Check

WASHINGTON.—A Republican senator wants to know whether the mid-Pacific atomic tests—from which have erupted unofficial reports of what some claim was the world's first H-bomb explosion—needed tight security rules and, if so, whether they were enforced.

Sen. Bricker, a member of the Senate House Atomic Committee, told a reporter from his home at Columbus, Ohio:

"I will want any explanation of whether the tight security secrecy was necessary—and, if so, whether these anonymous reported eye-witness accounts indicate that security was not properly enforced."

"All these published accounts may indicate that someone slipped a cog on enforcing security regulations."

Bricker said he will be in Washington next week to demand an official explanation. He said he will decide then whether to seek an investigation.

Witness accounts of the current test at Eniwetok Atoll, mostly from sailors aboard task force ships, have been widely published in the nation's press during recent days.

Amboy Man Dies Under Road Grader

Ralph Riley, About 75, Crushed When He Gets in Path

AMBOY.—(Special)—Ralph Riley, Amboy, 75, was killed instantly when crushed by a road grader after he apparently fell into its path while working on a country road about 9 a. m. today 6 miles south of here.

Riley's body was found beside the grader by Lloyd Johnson, also of Amboy, who had been working with Riley. Both are employees of the county highway department.

The man apparently lost his footing and fell into the ditch as the grader, operated by Johnson, was backing up. Johnson said he had not been able to see Riley from his seat on the machine as he backed the grader in the ditch.

An inquest has been scheduled for Friday morning in Tomlinson funeral home here.

Survivors include the widow, Ruth. The couple had no children.

The victim was a native of Dixon but had moved to Sterling many years ago. He was employed by the state highway department in Dixon until several months ago.

Funeral services will be held at 9 a. m. Monday in St. Mary's church, Sterling. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery.

Purchase New Squad Cars For Ogle Co. Sheriff's Use

OREGON.—In line with a new ownership arrangement for county squad cars, the Ogle county board of supervisors Wednesday provided for purchase of two cars to be used by the sheriff's department.

Until recently county squad cars were owned by Sheriff James White, who was provided expenses by the board for use and maintenance of the cars.

With purchase of a new Ford and a new Plymouth by the board yesterday, White now will receive $800 flat payment a year for whatever use he makes of his own car in line of duty.

Accepted bids for the new squad cars were entered by Bemis Motor Co., Oregon, Ford dealer, and Oregon Motor Sales, Plymouth agency. The Bemis bid was $2,255 and that of the motor sales was $2,180.

Boost in salaries, provided for by state statute, were approved by the board for State's Atty. Wayne Beltner and Circuit Clerk Homer D. Althouse.

The state's attorney's salary was upped to $6,000 a year. He also will receive $500 from the board as county and township adviser, and $1,200 from the state.

The circuit clerk's salary was increased to $5,000 a year. The increases will take effect Dec. 1, when Beltner and Althouse will take office for new terms.

Canvass Cook County Votes

CHICAGO.—With official returns reported from all downstate counties, the outcome of the race for secretary of state reined Thursday on the canvass of votes in Cook County.

The Democratic incumbent, Edward J. Barrett, trailed State Sen. Charles F. Carpenter of East Moline, by 2,632 votes.

PULLING OUT—Newell Anderson, 26-year-old Tupelo Daily Journal circulation manager, and his attractive 21-year-old wife packed to leave Tupelo, Miss., a few hours ahead of a deadline set by two hooded men. They plan to drive to his native Fargo, N. D., home. Anderson told police the men took him for a wild midnight ride Monday and roughed him up. One of the men said he "didn't like Yankees around," Anderson said. (AP wirephoto)

'Damykankee' Packs Bags to Leave South After Threats

TUPELO, Miss.—Newell Anderson and his pretty wife were on their way back to their native North Dakota today because, the 26-year-old newspaperman said, he had been warned to leave here on grounds that he is a Yankee.

The couple started driving to Fargo, N. D., late Wednesday about one hour ahead of the ultimatum which Anderson said was set by two hooded men after they roughed him up on a wild automobile ride Monday night.

"We don't like foreigners coming in here and you'd better get out of town," Anderson said the men told him.

Anderson, who had been circulating manager of the Tupelo Journal for six weeks, said he had received "anonymous" telephone threats for two weeks.

Mayor George Maynard said that "the business of him Anderson being a 'damn Yankee' had nothing to do with his leaving. There is something more behind it."

Maynard and other civic leaders in this Northeast Mississippi town of 15,000 said they would get the true facts of the case "in order in this Northeast Mississippi town eye against Tupelo and the South."

Rubbish Fire Near Church

Police reported a rubbish fire close to the First Presbyterian church, 318 E. Third st., at 4 a. m. this morning.

City firemen answered the call and found a large pile of rubbish and paint cans in flames. Although there was no damage, the fire was dangerously close to the church.

Firemen suspect that a lighted cigarette was carelessly tossed into a pile of leaves next to the rubbish causing the fire.

Chinese Reds Again Take Hill From ROK Defenders

SEOUL, Friday.—Screaming Chinese infantrymen early today threw the Allies from Pinpoint Hill on Sniper Ridge in a furious night battle at close quarters.

Elements of two Chinese Red battalions, possibly 1,000 men, overran the Central Front height for the 14th time in a month of battle, field dispatches said. They struck behind heavy artillery fire.

Pushed Back South Korean defenders once more were pushed south to lower heights on shell-torn Sniper Ridge. Heavy fighting still was in progress there.

Pinpoint is the Allies' northernmost stronghold on Sniper. Republic of Korea (ROK) infantrymen had spent the day mopping up Red remnants after recapturing the hill early Wednesday.

But they failed to dislodge Chinese entrenched on the yoke, a maze of tunnels and caves from which the Communists struck in

Supervisors Okay '52-'53 Budget Total

Surplus to Enable Rate to Dip; Total Budget Is $274,280

The Lee county board of supervisors today approved the annual levy, covering expenditures for the year beginning Dec. 1, 1952, and ending Nov. 30, 1953, which will reduce the county tax rate.

Last year, the county tax rate was 1981 per $100 of assessed property value. The 1952 budget calls for a .0078 decrease or a tax rate of 1903.

The board passed the proposed appropriation of $274,280 expected to cover county expenses for the next fiscal year. Last year's budget estimate called for $271,380.

Although last year's estimate was less than the present fiscal year, not all of the 1951 appropriation was spent. The balance of $15,172 is expected to offset the 1952 increase and enable the tax rate to be lowered.

The budget and the appropriation order and levy was unanimously adopted by the 26 members of the board present.

The largest individual reduction came in the county general fund. Last year's rate was .0700. This year it's .0650, or .0050 per $100. On $145,000,000 valuation, the county expects to raise a total of $275,938 in taxes for the year Dec. 1, 1952 to Dec. 1, 1953.

According to recommendations of the finance committee, the county highway fund will receive the largest portion of the revenue received. It expects to get $87,500.

The next highest departmental appropriation is slated for the county general fund which will get $64,200. County health will receive $55,000. The tuberculosis sanitarium fund will get $23,000, and the Illinois municipal retirement fund will get $20,300.

The county general fund breakdown includes the annual audit of county offices, board of review expenses, board of supervisors, housing TB service, circuit clerk's fees, county clerk's fees, county infirmary, county fair, county judge, superintendent of highways, of schools, courthouse, election expense, sheriff's fees and state's attorney's fees.

Navy Plane Crashes With 11 Aboard

SHELTON, Wash.—A four-engine Navy plane with 11 men aboard crashed and burned on a hillside on the rugged, heavily-timbered Olympic Peninsula Wednesday night.

In heavy night rain and early morning fog, searchers tried by land and air to find the crashed plane.

Reports of the flaming crash of the low-flying PB4Y Privateer from the Sandpoint Naval Air Station at Seattle led to a belief overnight that no one could have survived.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Ragan raised a slim hope with a report of having seen two white flares shoot skyward about three hours after the crash.

They said they saw the flares beyond the ridge that faces their home—in the area of the earlier flames.

Ragan reported early in the evening having seen a large plane flying low and "a big flash when she hit."

He thought it was about three miles away, over one ridge from his Skokomish Valley farm.

Take the 'Irk Out of Work' Is Prof's Aim

WASHINGTON—A college professor served notice on the American housewife and the African Zulu today that he is determined to help them save themselves work.
Dr. John Immer, professor of industrial management at American university here, unfolded this as part of his international plan to dispense with lost motion and thereby increase productivity and lower costs in factories, mines, stores and farms.
"Taking the irk out of work" is what they call it in England, Dr. Immer told a news conference.
"Give work saving five more years and there won't be even a savage Zulu who will escape the thing."
The professor, who is married, said women waste too much time doing simple things like carrying out the breakfast dishes a few cups and plates at a time. He envisioned a home of the future with a sort of creaky railroad running from the dining table to the sink.
Immer described work saving as developing better methods and doing work in an easier way. Under his system, suggestions are invited from employees, with possible awards for work saving ideas.

Demos Should Welcome Sen. Morse: Humphrey

WASHINGTON—Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said today Democratic senators should welcome Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon into their party caucus if he wants to come.
Morse, turning against President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower during the presidential campaign, quit the Republican party to support Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, the Democratic nominee, and declared himself an independent.
Whether Republican senators will take reprisals against Morse in the new Senate convening Jan. 3, possibly depriving him of his present choice committee assignments, is uncertain. Morse now holds places on the Armed Services and Labor Committees.
Open the Door
Humphrey, a leader of the "New Deal-Fair Deal" wing of the Democratic party, told a reporter the Democrats should throw open the door to Morse.
On the other hand, Humphrey said that Democratic senators who "turn their backs on the national party ticket also ought to receive their reward"—in less preferential treatment.
The matter of reprisals against Democrats who "supported the opposition" should be considered in connection with committee assignments, Humphrey said, at the caucus of Democratic senators early next year.
In a separate interview, Sen. Hunt (D-Wyo.), said anyone who used the Democratic party to get nominated and then supported the Republicans "doesn't belong in the Democratic caucus."
Neither Hunt nor Humphrey called any names.
Price for Ike
Senator-elect Price Daniel of Texas, a Democrat who had Republican endorsement, campaigned openly for Eisenhower. Sen. Harry S. Byrd, Virginia Democratic leader, stopped short of urging Eisenhower's election but he disavowed the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket.
In Nevada Sen. Pat McCarran, another veteran Democrat, worked for the reelection of Republican Sen. George Malone and also exchanged barbed remarks with Stevenson.
A deterrent to either Republicans or Democrats taking disciplinary action against any of their members is the close division between the two parties in the new Senate. Without counting Morse, the Republicans will have 48 seats, the Democrats 47.

Cocktails Before Dinner Can Lead To Habit, Claim

MIAMI, Fla.—The "social drinker" who imbibes two highballs every night before dinner may be in danger of becoming an incipient alcoholic, a psychiatrist from Richmond, Va., said today.
Dr. Howard R. Masters said "it has always been my belief that the normal, well-integrated individual who drinks socially will not become an alcoholic unless through disease, injury or conditioning there is some personality change for which he is not entirely responsible."
But, he told the Southern Medical Association there's a possibility that regular drinking every night before dinner can build up such a "conditioning" in a "normal social drinker."
Astronomers are developing a new method for calculating the exact size of the earth. Some day, the shadow of the moon, cast when it passes between the earth and a bright star, will be used in surveying.

Carving That Turkey Will Be No Trick With These Few Rules

BY GAYNOR MADDOX

A sharp knife, a long-pronged fork, a few clear directions and reasonable patience—that's really all you need to carve that beautiful roast turkey in the style it is accustomed to.

1. To Remove Leg — Hold the drumstick firmly with fingers, pulling gently away from turkey body. At the same time cut through skin between leg and body.
2. Press the leg away from body with flat side of knife. Then cut through joint joining leg to backbone and skin on the back. Hold the leg on service plate with drumstick at a convenient angle to plate. Separate drumstick and thigh by cutting down through the joint to the plate.
3. Slice drumstick meat. Hold drumstick upright at a convenient angle to plate and cut down, turning drumstick to get uniform slices.
4. Slice thigh meat. Cut slices of meat parallel to the bone.
5. Cut into white meat parallel to wing. Make a cut deep into the breast to the body frame, parallel to and as close to the wing as possible.
6. Slice white meat. Beginning at front, starting halfway up the breast, cut thin slices of white meat down to cut made parallel to the wing. The slices will fall away from the turkey as they are cut to this line. Continue carving until enough meat has been carved for first servings.

How to roast half a turkey—For a small family it is often more economical to purchase half a turkey. John B. Russell, one of the best of chefs, cooks it this way. Wash and wipe dry the half turkey in the usual manner. Sprinkle both sides of the turkey with salt and pepper.

Place the turkey skin side down and fill with your favorite stuffing, preferably a little on the dry side. Press the stuffing firmly into the cavity and cover well with a triple thickness of aluminum foil. Turn the turkey over and truss with butcher's twine, being careful to draw the leg and wing in as close to the breast as possible.

Place foil side down on a wire rack in a roasting pan. Rub skin side of turkey with a mixture of half butter and half shortening. Roast in the usual manner, basting frequently until cooked.

Wind is the number one weather element causing power failures, with lightning as number two. Data collected from utility companies show wind to be the most frequent initial cause of failure, with 57 per cent of the weather failures, while lightning causes 30 per cent of such failures.

Total National Debt About $590 Billion, Survey Shows

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK—Americans are going into hock at a record rate. Private debt has doubled since the end of World War II. The rate of increase is the steepest on record.

Corporate debt has climbed 82 per cent. Debts of individuals and incorporated (businesses) have gone up 120 per cent. Together these groups, owing 141 billion dollars in 1945, now approach a debt total of 300 billion dollars.

Add to this the nearly 265 billion dollars that the federal government owes, and the state and local government indebtedness of 27 billion dollars twice what it was in 1945, and you have a total of around 590 billion dollars.

Bankers say the private debt is not out of line with the increased national income, which was 277 billion dollars last year and will be higher this year.

1929 Contrast
In contrast, private debt in 1929

was 161 billion dollars, nearly double national income of 87 billion that year.

Some bankers, however, fret over the dangers they see in the present situation.

First, they worry about the rate of the growth in private debt—doubled in the last six years, while in the six years before 1929 it rose only 40 per cent.

And the last three years have seen the sharpest rise in debt. Private debt jumped 36 billion dollars in 1950, went up another 31 billion last year, and is expected to increase by another 33 billion this year.

Corporation plans indicate there'll be at least a temporary post-election upswing in debt offerings—most of them to finance expansion plans.

Might Head Down
Second, some bankers worry lest something might turn the economy downward, slice national income, and put part of the private debt in jeopardy. Much of the debt is in the form an investment in plant expansions. Many hold that certain industries now have much greater production capacities than present civilian demand justifies.

It will take time, bankers argue, before the normal growth of demand, plus the normal repayment of debt, will work off any excesses in capacity and in corporate and individual debts.

Individual debts have piled up from many sources. Home mortgage debt increased six billion dollars this year, and more than that in each of the two previous years.

Last year 13½ million persons brought new or used cars, and about two-thirds of them bought on time. Financing by sales credit companies and commercial banks came to nearly eight billion dollars.

Television fans still owe an estimated 730 million dollars on their sets. And TV companies expect to sell a lot more on time next year.

Total installment credit, up two billion dollars in a year, now tops 15 billion dollars. And total consumer debts including installment are put at 21½ billion dollars.

But bankers also see many offsetting circumstances. They point out that an expanding economy always brings with it a growth in private debt.

Increasing corporate debt is accompanied by increased physical assets and inventories. Increased mortgage debt brings with it more homes. Higher installment debt also means more autos and more home appliances.

With national income high, most of the debt looks sound enough. What bankers debate, however, is how much longer investment and debt can expand without becoming vulnerable.

Mrs. Lovett Directs Show At High School

"Arsenic and Old Lace." Joseph Kesselring's comedy-hit about murder and merriment, which took New York by storm will be presented by the Footlighters at 8 p.m. Friday, Nov. 14, in the Dixon high school auditorium. Mrs. Patricia Lovett is director, while Pat Bolander, a senior, is student director.

One of the zaniest and most hilarious collections of characters ever assembled in one play are the people who make audiences both shudder, and roar with laughter, in "Arsenic and Old Lace."

When all of these people get together on a quiet September afternoon, in a quiet house on a quiet street in Brooklyn, the repercussions almost unninge Mortimer, the one sane Brewster, and completely demoralize the Brooklyn police force.

In addition to its New York production, "Arsenic and Old Lace" has become one of the top favorites all over the country, and has also enjoyed a long run in London, as well as in Buenos Aires and Sweden.

In the Footlighters production, the sinister Jonathan Brewster, of the three faces and the 12 corpses, will be played by Jim DeYoung. Mary Stauffer will be seen as Abby Brewster, and Ann Leasing as her sister, Martha. Mortimer will be played by Don Reeder, and Teddy by Dave Murphy. In the role

All proceeds from the event which will feature both square and social dancing, will go to the polio fund. Robert Tourtellott will call the square dances and there will be the latest recordings for social dancing.

Of the face-lifting Doctor Einstein, Dick Sink will be seen.

Missionary Group Has Thanksgiving, Christmas Plans

Twenty-eight members of the Missionary Society of the Church of the Brethren met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Orville Brindle for their November meeting. Mrs. Harry Buzard led the group in a devotional period, and during the business session, conducted by Mrs. Brindle, president, plans were made to remember a needy family at Thanksgiving and to remember several missionaries at Christmas. Members are urged to send cards to these missionaries assigned to the Dixon women and addresses may be secured from Mrs. Brindle.

Reports were given by Mrs. Chester Moats and Mrs. Brindle of the regional conference which they attended during October at North Manchester, Indiana.

For the evening's lesson study Mrs. Gene Baker gave a report on the Brethren nurses in Nigeria, giving a short sketch on each individual and telling of their work in the mission hospitals.

Refreshments were served by the hostess committee during the social hour.

Papers Honor Mrs. Walgreen

Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen, "Hazelwood," Dixon, and Chicago, on two recent occasions has been favorably publicized for her outstanding photographic work and travels.

Men and women of the Eastman Kodak company in their newspaper, Kodakery, read Photography in the Golden Years, an article dedicated to the charming Myrtle Walgreen, and her many friends in this area were given delightful reading in the Sunday, Nov. 9 Chicago Tribune upon finding a feature concerning her many activities.

Following is a reprint of the article in KODAKERY which was accompanied by two pictures of Mrs. Walgreen, one taken atop the Acropolis in Greece. Nature and travel photography are two of Mrs. Walgreen's forte, however, she didn't send KODAKERY any of her thousands of travel pictures, but several of her nature pictures which are reproduced with the story.

The article reads: "I was 60 years old when I took up color photography and I have enjoyed it for the last 13 years." That's Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen speaking of what she calls her "golden years of life."

Photographic Honors She has amassed an enviable record of photographic honors since she began taking color pictures in Mexico in 1939 and today has a collection of 10,000 color slides.

"I do thoroughly enjoy my photography and through my enthusiasm have influenced many to take up this fascinating hobby. I really feel that I am on your Public Relations Committee—for when I give my programs I always say that all I do is press the button and Eastman does the rest.

"When I travel I always see the countries through the eyes of my cameras"—her Kodak Bantam Special is always in her purse — "and later I share the pictures with clubs for the benefit of the American Red Cross of which I am a director in Chicago.

Gives Benefits "I also give benefits for churches, hospitals, civic projects and have given programs to camera clubs, Rotary and horticultural societies," Mrs. Walgreen adds. "I give an average of 25 lectures a year and my great regret is that I can't do all that I am asked to do." At these, she shows between 350 and 400 slides.

"I now have nine programs entitled: Here's Looking at Mexico, Guatemala, South America, Europe, Arizona, Hawaii, the West Indies, the Mediterranean and Twelve Months of Bloom at Historic Hazelwood." On this spring's Mediterranean cruise she exposed 1,500 Kodachromes.

Photography actually has extended her two longtime hobbies—traveling and gardening. Incidentally she opens her gardens at Hazelwood, her country home at Dixon, for garden walks. At the last one this summer, 1,000 persons viewed the flowers for the benefit of the Lincoln Memorial Garden of Springfield. She also does much close-up floral photography.

Donates Lectures She has donated several full lectures, slides and commentary to clubs—to the Garden Club of Illinois, to the Wild Flower Preservation Society and the Chicago Color Camera Club. These are sent out to other clubs on request.

"I hesitate to tell of some of the honors that have come to me for it seems like boasting—and I do not believe in that—for I feel I have been very lucky."

Here, however, are some of the honors she has won with her pictures.

When she was 70, she was made an associate member of the Photographic Society of America, which she feels is quite an honor.

Wins 30 Awards

"I have been both amazed and delighted over the acceptance I have had in salons. In 217 salons and 61 club contests I have had 490 slides accepted with 30 awards and 45 honorable mentions." The catalog of the recent PSA convention in New York reproduced one of her pictures in color.

"I have received four medals from Holland and have had acceptances from Italy, Japan, Cuba, Luxembourg, Canada and England."

In 1948 she received a medal for being the leading salon exhibitor in international salons from the Chicago Color Camera club and that same year she received a cup for having the most points in the Chicago Camera Club contests.

One of Ten Last year she was one of 10 PSA members recommended to send 18 slides to the Regional PSA convention at Santa Barbara, Calif. to be used for the nature division programs.

She was also one of 14 women invited to furnish slides for a Women's National Show by the Photochromers of Los Angeles.

And the Chicago Sunday Tribune last November devoted a page to reproducing five of her slides in full color.

It's no wonder she's a strong advocate of photography for retirement.

"I think I am a good example of what can be done in the 'Golden Years of Life,'" she says.

Gracious Mrs. Walgreen

Gracious Mrs. Walgreen—A Lady On the Go was the headline for last Sunday's Chicago Tribune article concerning our "Hazelwood" neighbor. In the nearly full page feature, accompanied by pictures taken at her Rock River estate, Mrs. Walgreen is described as a whiz with camera, having a gift of green thumb magic and when she

Guilds of St. Luke's Reveal Bazaar Plans

Loveland school PTA will meet at 7:30 p. m. today at the school. In honor of education and book weeks, slides will be shown on "Growth of Children's Books."

is flying, which is often, she's happiest to be near the controls.

Every trip taken by Mrs. Walgreen, who has an apartment on Lake Shore drive while in Chicago, adds another permanent record of beauty to her "Here's Looking at" series of travelogs.

Among those traveling with her on one of her latest trips, a Mediterranean cruise, was Mrs. Eustace E. Shaw, Dixon.

Also highlighted in the newspaper article was the purchase of "Hazelwood" in 1928 by Mr. Walgreen, the charming lady's interest in 4-H club work and her help to the late Charles R. Walgreen in establishing his first drug business.

Mrs. Walgreen has been a widow for 13 years, had her husband lived they would have celebrated their golden wedding anniversary this year.

Included in the photographic scenes of Hazelwood was a shot of the Children's Historical society of Dixon upon their visit to the estate.

Chicago Girl Is Bride of Gene D. Lebwick Jr. in City

OREGON—A wedding of interest to residents of this area was that of Gene D. Lebwick, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene D. Lebwick, Oregon, and Geraldyn Moriarty which took place in Chicago. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald J. Moriarty, Chicago.

A white chantly lace ballerina length gown was worn by the bride for the late October wedding at St. Gertrude's church. Rev. James J. Kilgallon officiated at the afternoon double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father the bride carried a round styled bouquet of white pompons. Her sister, Lois Ann Moriarty, was maid of honor and the bridegroom's sister, Joan Lebwick, was bridesmaid. Chantly lace and nylon net styled their mile green gowns and they carried bouquets of yellow pompons.

Roger Elmyre, Oregon, served as best man with Martin Eakle, Oregon, and Richard McGinn, Lombard, fraternity brother of the bridegroom, ushering.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Moriarty wore blue gray taffeta. The bridegroom's mother was dressed in moss green taffeta. They both wore orchid corsages.

At Evanston Hotel
The Orrington Hotel, Evanston, was the reception setting from 3 to 5 p. m.

Many Assist in Preparation Of Tuberculosis Seal Letters

Headquarters of the Lee County Tuberculosis office in the Annex of the Dixon Public Hospital is a busy place these days preparing the Tuberculosis Seal Sale letters, which will go in the mail Nov. 17.

Many civic minded people are offering their help in this big task. The ever ready assistance of members of the American Legion Auxiliary Post 12 under the direction of Mrs. Emma Phalen have been busy preparing the letters for mailing.

Mrs. Clyde Yount has given freely of her time in directing the Girl Scouts, who have been placing posters throughout the city of Dixon.

The Lee County Tuberculosis association is carrying on a continuous year around program of case finding and education in the county, in an attempt to find tuberculosis early, when it is most easily treated, the patient's chance of recovery is better and the period of hospitalization is much shorter.

A hospital admission x-ray program is being carried on in the Dixon Public Hospital at the present time, whereby every maternity patient admitted to the hospital is given a free chest x-ray. This service has been financed entirely by the sale of Christmas Seals.

All Year Program

A year around case finding program in all high schools in the county is now being carried on. Each year freshmen, seniors and teachers are offered the Tuberculin test and all positive reactors are given free chest x-rays. The freshmen and seniors of the Dixon, Amboy and Steward high schools have already been checked this fall with the results that 480 students were tested, of this group were found 15 positive reactors, who will have free chest x-rays. These are a few of the projects which you are helping when you buy CHRISTMAS SEALS.

Your floor furnace should be inspected by an expert at least once every year.

Ducks Concentrate Near Private, State Refuges

HAVANA, Ill.—There are plenty of wild ducks in Illinois but they are bunching up so they are accessible to only a few hunters. Frank Bellrose, Illinois Natural History Survey biologist, blamed shrinking water levels for waterfowl concentrations near private and government game refuges.

He said only hunters who had access to private or public shooting areas near the refuges could expect to have good shooting until rainfall and blustery weather changed the picture.

He estimated 995,000 ducks were present now in the Illinois and Mississippi River valleys compared to 1,200,000 a year ago. The diving ducks are leaving the state, he said.

Comparatively, the Illinois River Valley population is good, attracting 750,000 wildfowl. There were 700,000 last November.

In this week's Illinois Valley survey, Bellrose counted 670,000 mallards. About 485,000 of these were below Peoria.

Waterfowl on the Mississippi numbered only 215,000, mostly diving ducks in the Nauvoo and Batches areas.

Bellrose said the big Illinois Valley concentrations were at Rice Lake near Banner, at Goose Pond and Senachwine Lake near Putnam, at Lake Chautauque near Havana, and at Ingram and Crane Lakes near Snicarte.

Stocks Mixed As Trading Slows Down

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market tried hard to gain ground today but the gains and losses remained pretty evenly mixed.

Activity slowed down considerably after a moderately peppy opening and in most cases the price changes continued small.

Among the exceptions on the advancing side were General Electric and Westinghouse, each of which stepped ahead around a point at times.

The losers included Anaconda, Kennecott Copper, Santa Fe, Gulf Oil and U. S. Gypsum.

U. S. government bonds were fairly steady.

State Corn Estimates Are Upped

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—A revised estimate of Illinois corn production today pushed it 18,000,000 bushels above the Oct. 1 forecast. The crop was placed at 534,000,000-bushels, the second largest of record.

The State-Federal Agriculture departments made the new estimates, which put the crop second to the 1948 harvest of 564,000,000 bushels.

J. A. Ewing, statistician in charge, explained that production forecasts are based on farmers' reports.

"The farmers didn't realize how good the crop was until they started harvesting," Ewing said. Harvesting is 95 per cent complete.

Ewing said that crop prospects surged upward during the last two months as dry weather aided an early harvest and reduced the chance of damage from frost, wind and prolonged wet spells.

Ewing emphasized that the current crop is of high quality, especially in the western and northern sections where corn is an important product. Yields are expected to average 58 bushels an acre.

See Christmas Business as 'Good'

BY SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Stores that cater to the great annual Christmas splurge of gift giving count on doing well next month.

Most chain stores already report sales surging ahead of last year. The mail order houses are predicting a record Christmas business. Christmas card salesmen say this season will be a record one for the postman. Toy makers predict record sales.

A preview of merchants' hopes is offered today by a firm that helps these merchants finance their business, including carrying their charge and installment credit accounts—Standard Factors Corp. of New York, Chicago and Los Angeles.

Not Average Month
If December were just any other month out of the 12, its sales volume should be 8 1/2 per cent of the year's total.

However, jewelry stores do one-fourth of their annual dollar volume in December. Variety chains do one-fifth in the final month. Department stores and retail liquor shops expect 15 per cent of their sales in December. Clothing chains count on 13 per cent, and home appliance and radio-TV dealers.

The union set this morning as a deadline for the Miller Electrical Co., of Jacksonville, Fla., a subcontractor at the plant, to re-hire the discharged workers. The company informed Garvin today it was unable to comply with the union's demands.

A company spokesman in Columbia, S. C., said Wednesday night, five of the workers were discharged because work the firm is engaged in is drawing to a close and the sixth was released for "excessive absenteeism."

President H. J. Miller said the union had not been recognized as a bargaining unit on the project.

Garvin said picket lines would not be set up until Monday in order to give other unions notice and that he expected all other unions to observe the lines.

A bad December, therefore, can be a heart-breaker.

Standard Factors says that clients in these various fields report a marked increase in time-buying, with credit sales up an average of 20 per cent this year.

It says sales volume started increasing some time ago, with the major increase reported by stores which were pushing charge account and installment business.

TV Optimism
Most optimistic are radio-TV merchants. They predict sales this December will be 20 per cent above a year ago. One reason is television's current invasion of new parts of the country.

Variety chains count on next month being at least 10 per cent better than last year.

Jewelers seem confident of about 10 per cent gains this year. Many have taken to stocking many other items for the Christmas trade, such as luggage and radios.

Clothing shops and apparel chains hope to show a 10 per cent increase. They changed over from pessimism to optimism when sales perked up in recent months.

Department stores are more cagey. They set no figures, just say they expect to do better than last year.

1953 Looks Fine for U.S. Farmers But Overdue Drouth Is Big Bogey

WASHINGTON—Unless there is a big war, big peace or big drought in 1953 the new president should get along fine with American farmers—at least in his first year in office. That's what the top state and federal farm experts agreed to recently at their important annual Outlook Conference.

At this season the big brains of agriculture get together, hash over all the big economic and political factors which can affect the U. S. farmers such as the foreign market, government spending and the general business level, and decide what the next 12 months hold in store for them.

General optimism over continued farm prosperity was the keynote of this meeting, as it has been every year since the war. The farmer may get slightly less for his products, and the things he buys might cost him a little more. But the general outlook is for another prosperous year far above the pre-war level. Despite all of their scientific facts and figures, however, many of the experts had an uneasy hunch about one possible major factor in next year's farm outlook. That is the fear that a major disastrous drought, such as the last one of 1936, might strike. According to the records such a drought is long overdue. The country has never gone as long without one. The very dry fall this year was mentioned as a bad omen. The result, if 1953 proves to be the next year for the big drought, could be a major headache for the new president.

If something drastic should happen to relieve the present world tension, resulting in a severe cut in military spending and foreign aid, the farmer would also run into some trouble the experts say. It would quickly reduce both the foreign and domestic demand for farm products.

On the other hand, if World War III should erupt, the only limits on the American farmers' income would be price controls and the amount they could produce. There would be another unlimited demand for food and everything else the farmer grows.

In the farm way-of-life for 1953 the major gains are going to be in the same categories as for the past 10 years, according to the experts. Electrification of farms is expected to continue. Latest figures show a total of 84 per cent of all U. S. farms getting electric power from a central station.

In the matter of dress, 1953 should see the American farm family continue to catch up with the standards of the average American city dweller. The farmer will do the same in the purchase of more entertainment, education and medical care.

From the average American consumer's point of view the conference also produced some good news. Again barring drought or war, the continued high farm production which is predicted is expected to bring a halt to the Korean-inspired rise in food prices. The consumer outlook is brightest in beef, with farmers expected to raise about 15 per cent more cattle. It should start the beef price down for the first time since the Korean fighting started.

Total output of meat next year could set a peacetime high, above 1947. But because of increased population the average person will probably get only about 144 pounds compared to the 1947 per capita average of 154 pounds.

Both the deciduous and citrus fruit crops are expected to be higher in 1953, with more and cheaper frozen juice concentrates on the market.

Time Again to Talk Turkey— Only Now It's Turkey Stuffing

Time once again to talk turkey. Only, let's make it turkey stuffing for a moment. Many a modern Thanksgiving dinner has suffered for want of a real, old-fashioned dressing.

One of the first things to remember in making a good dressing for turkey or any other fowl is that it depends for flavor entirely on proper seasoning. In other words, the right blending of onions and good herbs.

Sage was the most important herb in the dressings grandmas was famous for. This warm, aromatic leaf comes from a plant of the mint family. The best is grown in Dalmatia, Yugoslavia. Incidentally, this herb should not be confused with the inedible sagebrush which grows wild on our western plains.

Sage not only blends well with the strong flavor of the onions, but helps the turkey. It is a seasoning which goes well with the flavor of most meats and fowl.

Other herbs, such as thyme, majoram, savory and even rosemary go into well-seasoned dressings. One trick for making sure they are evenly distributed is to mix them into the melted butter and water. Pour this over the bread crumbs gradually, tossing the crumbs as you do it. This keeps the herbs from sticking in bunches on bits of bread and concentrating the flavor in any one part.

Getting back to the turkey itself, here's a reminder to the home-maker with a small family. There's no need to buy half a bird. According to the Department of Agriculture, Beltsville turkeys, weighing 5-6 pounds are plentiful this year, meaning you'll be able to buy a full gobble without fear of waste.

Incidentally, the Government experts say turkey generally is a good meat to buy this month.

Portugal's Climate Agrees With Ex-Royalty of Europe

BY HAL BOYLE

LISBON, Portugal—When kings lose their thrones but manage to keep their heads, they like to come to Portugal.

The political climate as well as the balmy air of this tiny country—it is about the size of Indiana, has a population slightly larger than that of New York City—agrees with them. They also like the feeling of stability and security as well as one of the more durable of Europe's dictators.

As a result his refuge of royalty has more ex-kings, would-be kings, and heirs of kings than a pinhole deck, all dreaming of the good old days or hoping for a return to power.

Among the refugees who dwell quietly here are Umberto II of Italy; Carol of Rumania; Don Juan of Bourbon, pretender to the crown of Spain; Francois Joseph of the vanished Austro-Hungarian empire and Admiral Horthy, ex-dictator of Hungary.

Aging ex-king Carol, perhaps the bestknown, has dropped his playboy ways. He and his wife, the tempestuous former Madame Lupeacu, live moderately. The royal refugees lead undisturbed lives. They feel safe from revolution or revenge or animosity because, as one resident put it: "There is an old proverb here about the rich: 'may they eat twice at every meal.' The peasant knows that no matter how much money a man has he can only eat one meal at a time." For this reason Portugal has become a haven of some men of great fortune. The most fabulous is 63-year-old "Mr. Five Per Cent," Caluste Sarkis Gulbenkian, reputed to be the world's only living billionaire. Abel Janszoon Tasman, Dutch navigator, discovered the island of Tasmania in 1642.

Five Rebel Cemeteries

Oregon Club Hears of Historical Illinois

OREGON—The members of the Oregon Woman's club Monday night heard C. C. Burford, Urbana, present a program based upon the historical, literary, civic and inspirational background of the state of Illinois.

Burford is an author, editor, book-reviewer, historian and lecturer. As an author he has written four volumes the latest being "We're Loyal to You Illinois," a story of the university bands, picturesque and colorful in its Illinois setting.

Burford is a graduate with two degrees from the University of Illinois. He is a member of the Illinois State Historical society and numerous other groups which study the back drop of the Central west.

His talk rang with the Americanism of the Central West. How many Illinoisans ever realized that this state extends as far south as Richmond, Virginia, or as far north as Boston? That there are five Confederate cemeteries in this Yankee state?

These and many other facts came to light Monday night under the enthusiasm of Burford's interest in Illinois. He added that we do much travelling 'in other states while failing to realize what a wealth of history and interest lies within an easy grasp right here.

Some of the places Burford's talk dealt with were Alton, Princeton, Navoo, Kekuk and Galena.

The meeting was in the home of Judge and Mrs. Leon Zick.

Army Takes Over Mac's Documents

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thirty-two packing cases of documents Gen. Douglas MacArthur had brought from Japan and stored in a Brooklyn warehouse have been transferred to Army custody in New York.

Brig. Gen. Frank Dorn, deputy chief of Army Information, said Wednesday the transfer took place about two weeks ago and, as far as he knew, was not the result of any political pressure.

Demands had been made that MacArthur turn the papers over to the Army after it was reported the general was retaining possession of them for writing a personal history.

Dorn, announcing the transfer, said it followed an agreement worked out "amicably" between MacArthur and Lt. Gen. Willis Crittenger, First Army commander. He said MacArthur still has access to the documents.

The Washington Times-Herald in a copyrighted article said Secretary of the Army Pace had ordered Crittenger to take over the papers.

MacArthur was not reached for immediate comment.

3-Dimensional Recordings Made

URBANA-CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — "Three-dimensional" sound recording creating the effect of listening in the actual concert hall are being made at the University of Illinois in a pioneering educational project.

It is the beginning of stereophonic, or "three-dimensional," recordings.

From microphones so placed to pick up different sections of the orchestra, two simultaneous sound tracks were made on a magnetic recording tape. Played back from speakers located in different parts of a room, the effect on the listener is that of sitting in the midst of the orchestra—of hearing with both ears.

KODIAK, Alaska (AP)—It's triplets for Mrs. Alma Rudolph of lonely Unga Island, 300 miles southwest of here.

The 30-year-old mother and her babies, two girls and a boy, were doing well after a Navy doctor and plasma were flown to her. The Coast Guard reported Wednesday. She was attended only by neighbor women at their birth and suffered from loss of blood and shock.

First reports from Unga were that quadruplets had been born to Mrs. Rudolph. She has six other children.

Domes to Shelter Nation From Future Bad Weather

URBANA-CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — down into the dome, forcing hot air out from under its edges. Power plants and other smoke-producing installations would be kept outside.

Rain pouring off the dome's edges, would be caught to provide a pure supply for all uses including extensive sprinkling of vegetation inside, where even the tallest trees could grow without difficulty.

Homes might be without roofs. Walls would be lightweight and solely for privacy. Even on overcast radiant heat might be desirable at night.

Prof. Richardson says that such a city under a plastic dome would survive wartime attack better than a conventional one of heavy materials. While the dome could be damaged by blast or puncture and the house walls under it, all could be quickly repaired.

Because of pillow construction, the dome could sustain many punctures without coming down, and the damage cells repaired while the dome continued to float in the air. Radar-baffling materials

Judge Acquits Self on Charge Of Gambling

DAYTON, Tenn. (AP)—An investigation was scheduled today in connection with the verdict of innocent which Sessions Judge Harold Duncan gave himself and five others on gaming charges.

The investigation was ordered Wednesday by Circuit Judge Alan S. Kelly of South Pittsburgh, Tenn., who said he also had revoked an order by Duncan to return 21 slot machines to the owners.

Sheriff Mack Thurman of Rhea county reported Wednesday that Duncan was arrested at a poker game by his chief deputy when the deputy was sent to get a warrant for three men charged in the slot machine seizure.

The judge said he was "only told to come in" and was not arrested. He admitted he signed a $250 appearance bond.

"I presided at the hearing and charges against all six cited, including myself were dismissed. . . . The other five testified they were not playing poker but were playing rummy. They also said I was not playing," he added.

Thurman said he testified he saw all the defendants playing.

Duncan charged the raid was "political" and stemmed from his statement to the county court that he was "going to stop the sheriff from drawing fees from the general sessions court."

Thurman replied, "there is very little truth in it."

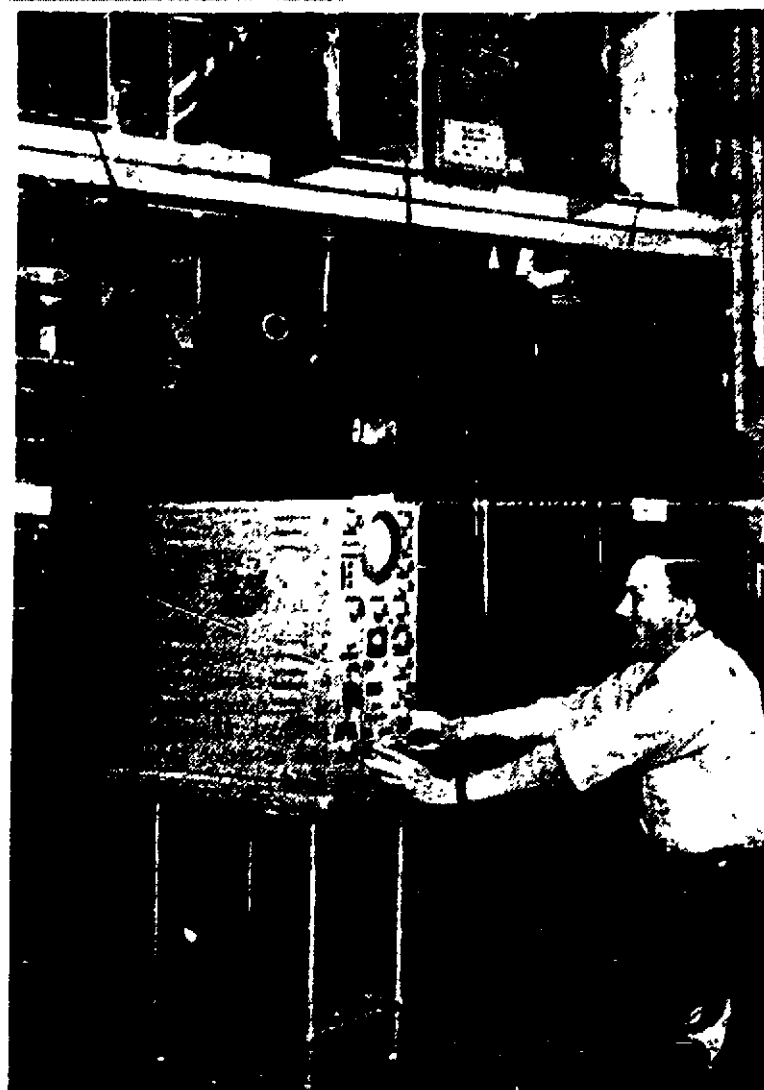

Babies Have Better Chance With Surgery

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A six-pound baby has a better chance on the operation table than his 40-year-old father.

That comes from one of the nation's leading baby surgeons, Dr. Orvar Swenson of Boston.

"A baby is a brand new mechanism," Dr. Swenson said Wednesday, poohing the idea that infant surgery is dangerous. "The parts are all in fine working order. The heart is strong. The tolerance to anesthesia is excellent. And babies heal remarkably well."

"Wouldn't you rather work on a brand new car than try and repair an old worn-out jalopy?" he asked pediatricians and reporters at a meeting at Los Angeles Children's hospital.

POWER COMPANY ENGINEER, Edward J. Steeve, is shown using new radar fault finder to locate trouble in electric transmission line. Radar equipment is attached to the terminal of the line in a substation. Instrument helps pinpoint trouble spot.

The fault is located. Under this time-consuming and costly method, as many as seven cuts might be required to isolate the damaged section.

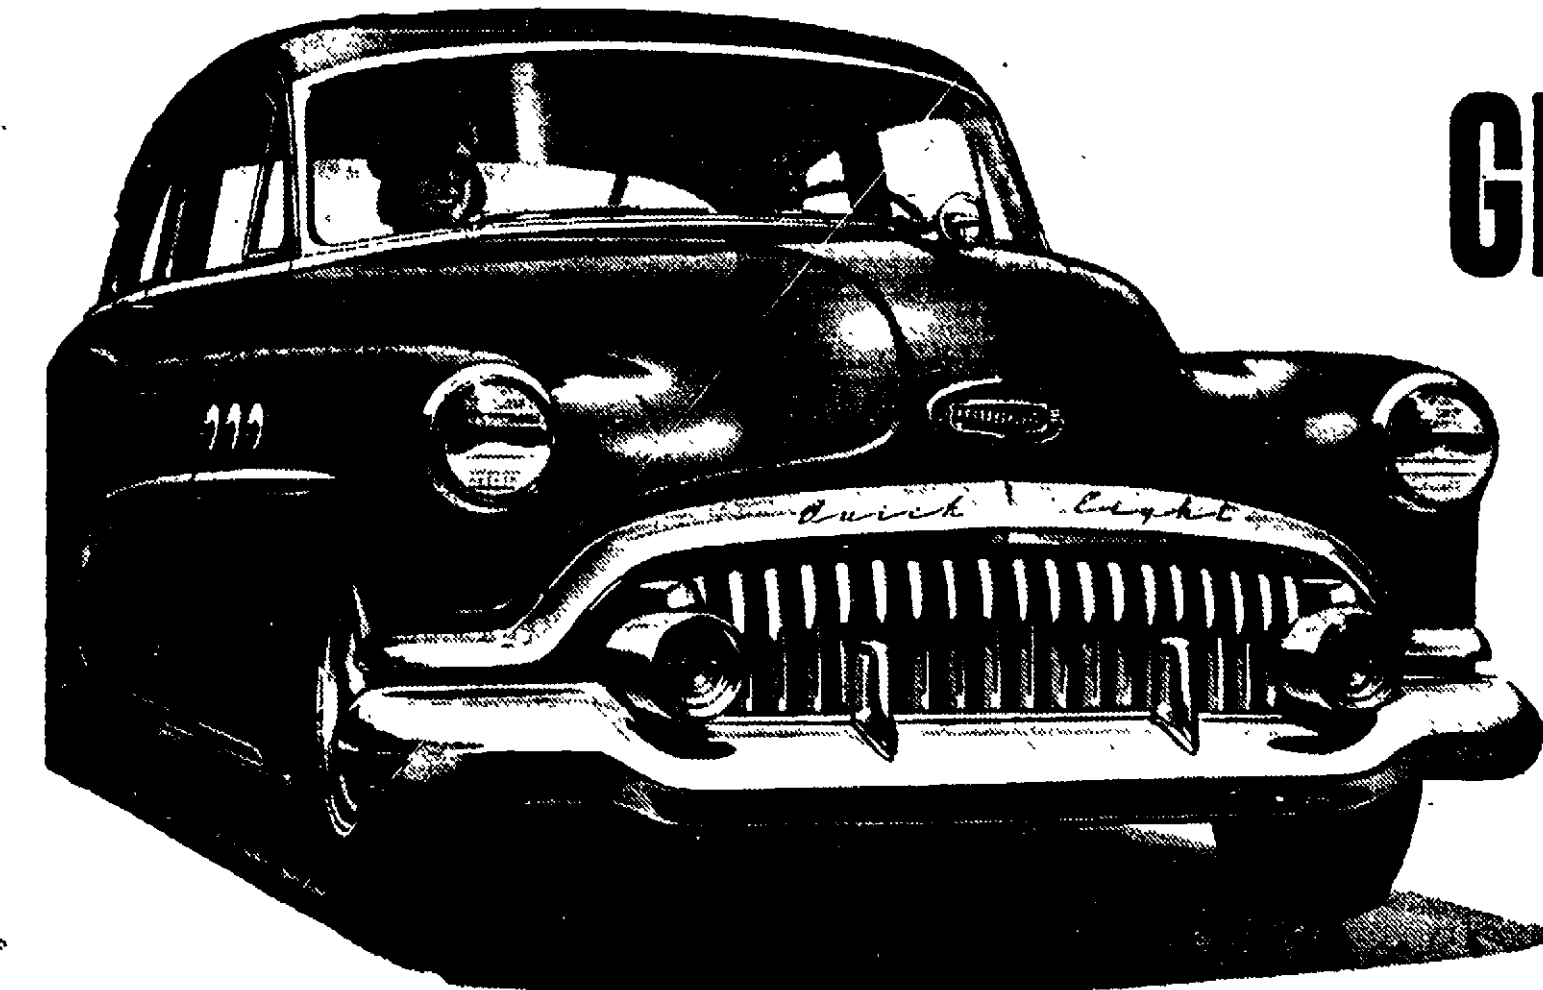

Handy Spots

The two utilities have the radar equipment stationed at locations where it is handy to most of the transmission lines. Two are located in Chicago, and the others at Joliet, Maywood, Dixon, Kewanee and Pekin. Those at Pekin and Kewanee are chiefly for use on the intricate network of 138,000-volt overhead lines supplying the area southwest of Chicago and, if needed, could be used also on the 147-mile long, 230,000-volt line connecting Powerton generating station at

-any way you figure

NUMBER ONE item on most anyone's list of automobile "musts" is power—the life and lift of your going.

In this Buick SPECIAL you get a valve-in-head high-compression Fireball 8 Engine that can pour out a wealth of the thrilling power you ever held rein on—more power per dollar than you'll find elsewhere.

Number Two is ride—the way you go—the comfort and steadiness and luxury of your travel.

Every Buick has big soft coil springs on each wheel to cushion your way—and an unyielding torque-tube that firms and steadies your ride. Yet these are just two of the fifteen Buick ride features that cost, literally, more than a million dollars to engineers.

Then there's style, there's room, there's visibility, there's handling ease—all part of your travel—all helping to make the difference between good going and great going.

But price is very much part of the picture, too—what you pay for what you get.

So when you add in the big horsepower rating you get in a Buick, plus the extra thrill and thrift of its Fireball performance...

When you measure the inches of room, count up the many hours of comfort through the years, check off things like durability and solid satisfaction and high trade-in value...

And when you put this total against the price of a Buick—you're going to say, "Man! That's great going all the way!"

Come in and see us today or tomorrow, won't you?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

Truman, Ike Show Good Spirit Of Cooperation During Change

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON (AP)—We are in a curious period of U.S. history.

Harry S. Truman is president of the United States even though 33 million voters have said they want a change. And he will continue to be president, with full authority and responsibility, until Dwight D. Eisenhower takes over on Jan. 20.

It's an awkward situation. Any cabinet officer or other administrator who makes a decision or issues a statement knows he does so on borrowed time. Any diplomat abroad realizes he is speaking for an administration which has had a no-confidence vote by the people.

Name Go-Betweens
Fortunately, Truman and Eisenhower appear to be making the best of it.

At Truman's invitation, Eisenhower has named a couple of go-betweens, and doubtless will name more. The transition should be as painless as possible.

In the past the problem has been more acute, for two reasons. First, until the 20th Amendment to the Constitution advanced the inauguration date from March 4, the time lag was greater.

Second, not all outgoing presidents and presidents-elect have displayed such willingness to cooperate as have Truman and Eisenhower.

Herbert Hoover says in his memoirs that he begged Franklin D. Roosevelt to cooperate and that Roosevelt wouldn't. Hoover thinks this helped accelerate the slide into the depression.

Undoubtedly the most critical presidential switch came in 1860 when Lincoln took over from Buchanan.

Nation Crumbles
The South was seceding, a nation was crumbling. The head of the Army, Gen. Winfield Scott, said fearfully:

"A dog fight now might cause the gutters to run with blood." Buchanan thought no state had the right to secede, but also that the government had no right to keep it from seceding. He therefore did little or nothing.

Lincoln didn't help him. Buchanan invited Lincoln to come to Washington, but Lincoln stayed home in Springfield, Ill.

Some historians feel this period of indecision may have prolonged the Civil War.

St. Mary's Plans Panel Discussion

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is one of a series of articles published in the observance of American Education Week. This series is prepared in cooperation with the Dixon Public School faculty and other local educators and will serve to give the public an insight into the many facets of public and parochial school education in Dixon. It's by knowing these things that the public can reach a better understanding of our educational system.

Having completed a unit in American History entitled "The Establishment of the English Colonies," the seventh grade pupils of St. Mary's school will give a panel discussion during Education Week. Emphasis will be placed on the early contributions to American education by the English colonists.

Mary Kavanaugh, who has been appointed chairman of the panel, will open the discussion with a brief address, introduce each speaker, and give the summary. The speaker for the Southern Colonies will be: Donald Kenney, Cathy Carlson, William Cahill, Paul Sereg, and Joan LeSage. The New England colonies will be discussed by: Joseph Gasser, Molly Mooney, William Underwood, John Valle, Norma Lebre, and Anne Mail.

The panelists for the Middle Colonies will be Carol Matson, Delaney Dunphy, Edith Pana, Mary Slonisky, and Catherine Warner. The audience will consist of the remaining members of the class who will take part in the discussion.

Interesting Method.
The panel is an interesting and profitable method to be used in history and the other social sciences. It gives the youth of today an opportunity to demonstrate their capability of leadership.

The chairman must know the rules of parliamentary procedure. He must cultivate a good delivery, and a low voice pitched to reach the farthest person in the audience. His tone should be friendly, encouraging others to voice their opinions.

The speaker is taught to prepare for the panel by studying the subject carefully in order to gather material. His manner determines his success in a panel discussion. He must remember the Four-Leaf-Clover of Good Speaking, namely: Erect posture, friendly and low-pitched voice, original ideas, and individual and forceful style.

Audience Takes Part
The audience must be taught to take part intelligently and courteously in the discussion, by asking questions or by giving further information on the subject.

Finally, the advantages of this method of discussion lies in the fact that both speakers and audience participate. Above all, the boys and girls learn to be courteous and to have consideration for others, which are the guiding principles of all conduct.

Drouth Halts Grass Growth

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Lack of soaking rains in Illinois has kept the growth of grains and grasses at a standstill, the Federal-State Agriculture Departments said today.

A drought which started in August still prevails despite some rainfall during the past week.

Plowing of stubblefields in preparation for spring seedings has been retarded because of soil dryness.

Pastures have been in poor condition for some time.

Fall seedings made early have progressed to good stands, but late sowings have germinated unevenly.

Slayer of Sweetheart Sentenced

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ill.—An unemployed insurance salesman was sentenced to 150 years in prison Wednesday after pleading guilty in the slaying of his former sweetheart in a Lawrenceville High School class room.

A "blasted romance" was the only explanation offered by Charles Petrach, 25, of Gary, Ind., for fatally shooting Miss Georgine Lyon, 25, high school librarian Sept. 3. In imposing sentence, Circuit Judge Ben W. Eovaldi stipulated that Petrach should spend every Sept. 3 in solitary confinement. Petrach was scheduled to go on trial Wednesday on his original plea of innocence. But he changed his plea to guilty on advice of court-appointed counsel.

Jet Ace Desires Combat

SCOTT AIR FORCE BASE, Ill.—Air Force Major James Jabara, America's first jet ace, has applied for a return to combat duty in Korea.

The 29-year-old Jabara, who became an ace in 1951 with six enemy planes to his credit, said in his application filed Wednesday: "I want to go back to Korea to finish the tour that was interrupted in May, 1951."

Brig. Gen. Augustus M. Minton, chief of staff of the Air Training Command, said Jabara's reassignment would depend upon securing a qualified replacement.

Jabara, a native of Wichita, Kan., has been stationed here as an instructor in the graduate pilot training division since his return to the United States. He is married and the father of three children.

DES MOINES.—Ray Bruckman, a fire engine salesman, heard opportunity knock.

Bruckman, of Rock Island, Ill., Wednesday drove one of his trucks to the home of Ray Hoff, chief of the North Des Moines Volunteer Fire Fighters Association, in the hope of making a sale.

Arriving in time to learn of a fire on a nearby farm, he and Hoff hurried off in the new truck and helped extinguish a burning hay stack.

Although there was no sale, Hoff said the demonstration was great.

There still wasn't a sound from the pupils when he opened a corner cabinet and left with the teacher's purse containing $7.

McGranery Reverses Ricca Order

WASHINGTON.—Ex-Capone henchman Paul (The Walter) Ricca was the center today of two investigations within the Justice Department.

Their objectives, as outlined by Atty. Gen. McGranery:

1. To find out who sent a telegram from the Justice department last week telling Otto Kerner Jr., U. S. district attorney at Chicago, not to try to get Ricca back behind bars.

2. To determine the circumstances under which Ricca and three other former lieutenants of the late Al Capone got paroles in 1947.

McGranery Wednesday repudiated the telegram, saying he is ordering Kerner to go ahead with efforts to re-jail Ricca on a 1949 extortion conviction.

Not Consulted
McGranery said he was not consulted about the wire and is conducting an inquiry in the Justice department's criminal division, where it originated, to learn who sent it.

When Ricca and the three others were paroled in 1947, they were serving 10 years each after convictions on charges of conspiring to extort money from the motion picture industry. After criticism by congressmen and others, the paroles were revoked in 1948.

Ricca took his case to the Federal District court in Chicago, where Judge Michael L. Igou ruled in August that, because he was not given a hearing, Ricca's parole revocation was illegal.

It is this decision which McGranery has told Kerner to appeal to the U. S. Court of Appeals—if it is not too late. Justice department officials said the time for appealing it may have expired last Saturday.

No Phoney
Department officials saw no chance that somebody outside the agency had sent the message directing Kerner not to appeal. They said it apparently came from a member of the criminal division

S. African Government Illegal, Court Decides

BLOEMFONTEIN, South Africa.—South Africa's Appeal Court today unanimously branded Prime Minister Daniel F. Malan's High Court of Parliament as illegal. The court's action posed new threats of grave civil strife for the racist country.

The five judges—their country's highest court until creation of the parliamentary tribunal—dismissed the government's appeal against the Supreme lower Court's ruling that Parliament acted unconstitutionally in setting itself up as the highest court to rule on constitutional questions.

Parliament, in which Malan's Nationalists have a small majority, took that action after the courts struck down a key law in the premier's "White supremacy" program.

The Appeal Court's action left Malan two possible courses of action:

1—He could defy the verdict and call on the High Court of Parliament to rule itself a legal body.

2—He could accept the verdict and call an early general election in which he would seek a large enough majority to re-enact his disputed race laws within the framework of the Constitution.

The nation already is torn by recurring bloodshed and violence and a Negro civil disobedience campaign against restrictive laws.

He Even Hates to Stop for Lunch!

Put a man behind the wheel of a Golden Anniversary Cadillac—point it to a destination some hundreds of miles away—and try to stop him!

And small wonder! In all the world, there is no finer relaxation for a work-weary man than a day's drive at the wheel of a Cadillac.

Try it sometime, and see for yourself. The moment you slip into the driver's seat, you'll sense that something extraordinary is about to happen to you.

The car has a "feel" to it—even when it isn't in motion. You sit right. The wheel falls naturally into your hands. You look out through the big curved windshield—over the beautiful hood and into the distance—and you know that "this is it!"

And then you turn the key and the great engine whispers into action—and the day's fun begins.

First, there's the silence—only the sound of the wind —and the occasional tick-tick of the electric clock.

And then there's the comfort—the easy, soft, steady ride over almost any type of road.

And next, the handling ease! The steering wheel moves with the weight of the hand. There is remarkable steadiness on straightaway and curves. And the brakes give added confidence each time you touch the pedal.

So the miles go by and the miles go by. Towns and villages appear and disappear.

"What's that? It's time for lunch?"

"Okay—but let's make it something quick and easy. We'll have a big dinner tonight."

Don't you think you'd like to own the car that can make a journey such a great delight?

If so—come in and see us—any time.

One Man's Christmas Tree Draws 10,000 Strangers to His Parlor

DOWN FROM THE ATTIC come 4,000 ornaments as Mrs. Gano Senter, aided by granddaughters, gets ready to plan the trimmings for the family's 1932 Christmas tree in Denver, Colo.

By ANN BARTOS KUSHION
NEA Special Correspondent
DENVER, Colo. — (NEA) — A Christmas "open house" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gano Senter of Denver is like other Christmas "open houses" in only one respect. People come in for short visits, but they're not just friends and relatives. There have been 10,000 of them each Yule season for the past 20 years. Usually they're complete strangers. And they don't come to see the Senter.

They cross the Senter threshold to see what well may be the world's most dazzling private Christmas tree. It cost a small fortune, is exhibited with showmanship and never fails to enthrall spectators.

The Senter Christmas tree is about 10 small trees and 50 to 75 extra limbs, all firmly put together by a hired carpenter. The height of the tree—11 feet—is limited by the height of the Senter living room.

The tree has to be super-strong to support 4,000 ornaments and 700 colored lights that hang on it. The whole works weighs about 700 pounds.

Mrs. Senter is sole tree-trimmer. The job takes her one week, sometimes 14 to 16 hours a day. When it is finished hardly a needle is visible, only lights and a solid mass of glittering, priceless, intricate ornaments.

Public showings begin on Christmas Day at dusk when the Senter turn on 1,000 colored lights that outline the wrought-iron fence outside their home. The tree stays up until Jan. 3.

People waiting on sidewalks and in parked cars begin to file through the Senter portals in groups of 40. They are guided in a specific indoor traffic pattern.

The Senter estimate they've paid out at least $10,000 for tree brie-a-brac, which includes a silver lame cloth under it and a 200-piece miniature village that flanks it. Many decorations are gifts of well-wishers.

While guests gaze at the tree in the living room, an organ in the basement plays Christmas carols, birds twitter (it is really a French music box) and a revolving wheel casts changing colors upon the spectacle.

Senter stands by to show special ornaments like the tiny harp whose strings are minute glass vials of perfume, giant Swedish snowflakes flecked with colored stones, Moses-in-the-bullrushes, a miniature organ that plays.

After 15 minutes the house lights dim, the show is over, and another group is ushered in.

The Senter cater to children. Most of their private showings are for orphans, Scout groups, and crippled youngsters and are followed by hilarious parties in the Senter rumpus room.

Mrs. Senter takes care to hang children's favorite ornaments in approximately the same spots each year.

LITTLE VISITOR hunts for her favorite ornament on the Senter family tree in Denver, where 10,000 strangers turn up every Yuletide to trek through the Senter's living room.

Once a little boy cried, "Where's the littlest angel, he was right here last year!"

Senter, who spends a great deal of time watching his wife trim the tree just to be able to cope with such emergencies, comforted the lad by finding the favored ornament a couple of branches away.

The front row is generally reserved for youngsters. One father discovered he was minus a son after his group had made its exit to the street. After a frantic search in the cold night outdoors and the milling crowds inside, the lad was found squatted in kiddies' row. He'd been there all the while, seeing the show for the third time.

"We are happy to see others happy," the Senter simply offer as their motive, although they confess the crowds sometimes tire them to the point where they "have been tempted to leave immediately for a foreign country." But each year they renew the project with vim, vigor and ornaments surpassing those of the year before.

They do not solicit visitors. Advertising is solely word-of-mouth of others, and the tree has never been publicized outside Colorado yet spectators come from all sections of the world.

Two years ago a group of maharajas from India were in Colorado to study engineering projects and dropped in to see the tree. The Senter received in the mail weeks later some intricate hand-carved ivory ornaments, gifts of princes whom their project had pleased.

Judge Hales Postal Employees Into Court for Making Noise

SALT LAKE CITY—U. S. District Judge Willis W. Ritter started a one-man noise abatement campaign Wednesday to halt a racket in a federal building mail room which he said sounded "like a bowling alley."

To enforce his desire for quiet, the judge had Postmaster David R. Trevithick and 25 postal employees haled into court.

To Trevithick he gave a lecture. Supervisor Francis Newman got a $100 fine, suspended, and 24 other workers were cited for contempt. Handling of mail was held up for an hour.

All concerned promised to do their best to be quiet, but Postmaster Trevithick indicated he had some misgivings. Said he: "My sworn obligation under the law is to move the mails as expeditiously as possible with the facilities at my disposal. The condition which all this is about has existed for 20 years and is part of the basic structure of the building."

A civil trial was in progress before Judge Ritter when the noise "like a bowling alley" came from a mail processing room directly beneath the courtroom. He directed shals to investigate and put a stop to the racket.

Lester E. Peterson, clerk in charge of the mail handling room, explained the noise came mostly from mechanically operated doors on two freight elevators and from floor trucks with metal casters used to move the heavy mail bags about.

The judge described the noise as "intolerable" and added: "Some of the noise sounds to me like a careless, reckless, slamming, banging of packages."

Price of Eggs, Chicken Move A Bit Higher

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chickens, large eggs and most fresh vegetables cost a little more in many retail food stores this week. Pork prices leveled off after weeks of declines. Lamb was off 2 to as much as 7 cents a pound.

A note looking ahead to Thanksgiving Day menus two weeks hence: meat buyers for major chains said turkeys probably will cost 2 to 5 cents a pound less just before the holiday than they do now, and about 5 cents below last Thanksgiving. The gobble crop is expected to set a record this year. Cranberries are reported to be somewhat less plentiful; however, and a little more expensive.

Grapefruit were a special-priced fruit featured in many stores and prices were lower. Both California and Florida oranges worked lower.

The Agriculture Department stressed table grapes and ducks as most-plentiful foods for thrifty buying this week.

Delay Inquest Into Death of Menard Inmate

CHESTER, Ill. — An inquest into the death of an inmate shot during the recent rebellion at Menard State prison has been rescheduled for tonight by Coroner Lester C. Walker of Randolph county.

The inquest originally was set for Wednesday. Walker gave no reason for the one-day delay.

While announcing the new inquest date, Walker also gave a new account of the manner in which James H. May, 42-year-old Chicago Negro, was wounded. He said that May was shot by a guard when May made a threatening motion as other guards stormed the prisoner-held east cell block to end the rebellion.

Previously, Warden Jerome J. Munie had said May was wounded accidentally by a stray bullet fired in the charge.

Walker said May's death last Thursday was caused by peritonitis and pneumonia after an operation necessitated by the wound.

One of Three Overcome by Monoxide Dies

ST. LOUIS—Mrs. Marie Johann, 50, a member of a family of three overcome by carbon monoxide fumes in their home Tuesday, died at City Hospital Wednesday.

Her husband, 52-year-old Frank Johann, and her daughter, Ruth, 20, are still hospitalized. The three were found unconscious by police who broke into the home at the request of neighbors.

The fumes were distributed throughout the house by a furnace blower. A hot water heater near the furnace was the source of the gas.

Gov. Stevenson Now in Arizona

SASABE, Ariz. — Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, defeated Democratic presidential candidate, arrived Wednesday night at the La Osa Ranch, near here, for a five-day vacation.

The Illinois governor was accompanied by Wilson Wyatt, his campaign manager, and Mrs. Wyatt; Carl McGowan, an aide, and McGowan's wife. The party will stay at the ranch of Dick Jenkins, a friend of Stevenson.

Stevenson, who traveled to Arizona by private plane, plans to return to Springfield, Ill., Sunday or Monday.

Model Claims Manufacturer Gave Her Love-Making Scenes

NEW YORK—Model Nancy Hawkins says dress manufacturer Samuel Chapman gave her and a girl friend pieces of cloth showing "love-making" scenes.

Miss Hawkins testified Wednesday in the trial of Chapman, accused of possessing indecent photographs and other pornographic items. Chapman was arrested during the city-wide probe of high-priced vice involving reported $500-a-night call girls. Miss Hawkins is a material witness in the probe.

Tells Story

She said in special sessions court that she and her roommate, Joan Douglas, got a couple of Easter dresses wholesale from Chapman and then accompanied him and an unidentified male friend to Chapman's apartment.

She was kissing the unidentified man, Miss Hawkins said, when Chapman appeared.

"Mr. Chapman opened the curtain between the two rooms and took a bolt of cloth from the closet and tore a piece off and gave it to me," Miss Hawkins said.

Miss Douglas, also a material witness in the vice probe, gave similar testimony about the illustrated cloth.

Actress' Marriage Begins Like Slapstick Film Script

SAN JOSE, Calif. — Actress Joan Fontaine's third marriage began like something right out of a slapstick movie script — a lost trousseau, a misplaced wedding license, a missed train, a missed plane and many madly dashing taxicabs and private cars.

Early misadventures postponed the wedding two hours; later ones delayed the wedding trip 24 hours. But as in all good scripts, every one is happy.

Here's Story

It went like this:

The blonde, 35-year-old actress and Collier Young, handsome, 44-year-old film producer, planned to marry quietly at nearby Saratoga. But when they arrived Wednesday from Hollywood they learned their baggage had missed their plane.

In the luggage was Miss Fontaine's wedding outfit, all her going-away clothes, Young's suits and the marriage license.

The luggage was placed aboard two other northbound planes.

Taxicabs rushed it from San Francisco airport 40 miles to Saratoga.

The delayed marriage was witnessed by the bride's mother and stepfather and her adopted daughter, Marjita Pareja, 7, who was flown from school at Paris.

The newlyweds raced 60 miles by car to Oakland to board the streamliner, City of San Francisco, for Chicago. The train had gone.

Get Plane Space

United Air Lines then gave them space on a plane for Reno, where they could board the train.

A 20 mile dash by car to San Francisco Airport brought more bad news: The plane had left.

With that, Mr. and Mrs. Young gave up — over night. They made reservations to board a plane tonight for Chicago.

Miss Fontaine, formerly wed to actor Brian Aherne and later to producer William Dozier. Young once was married to actress Ida Lupino.

Dangerous Boats

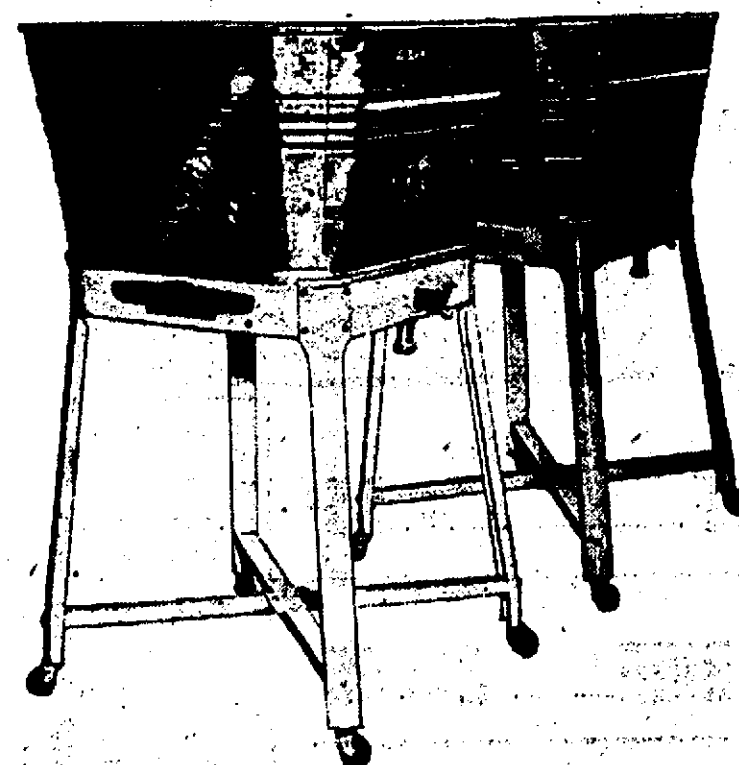

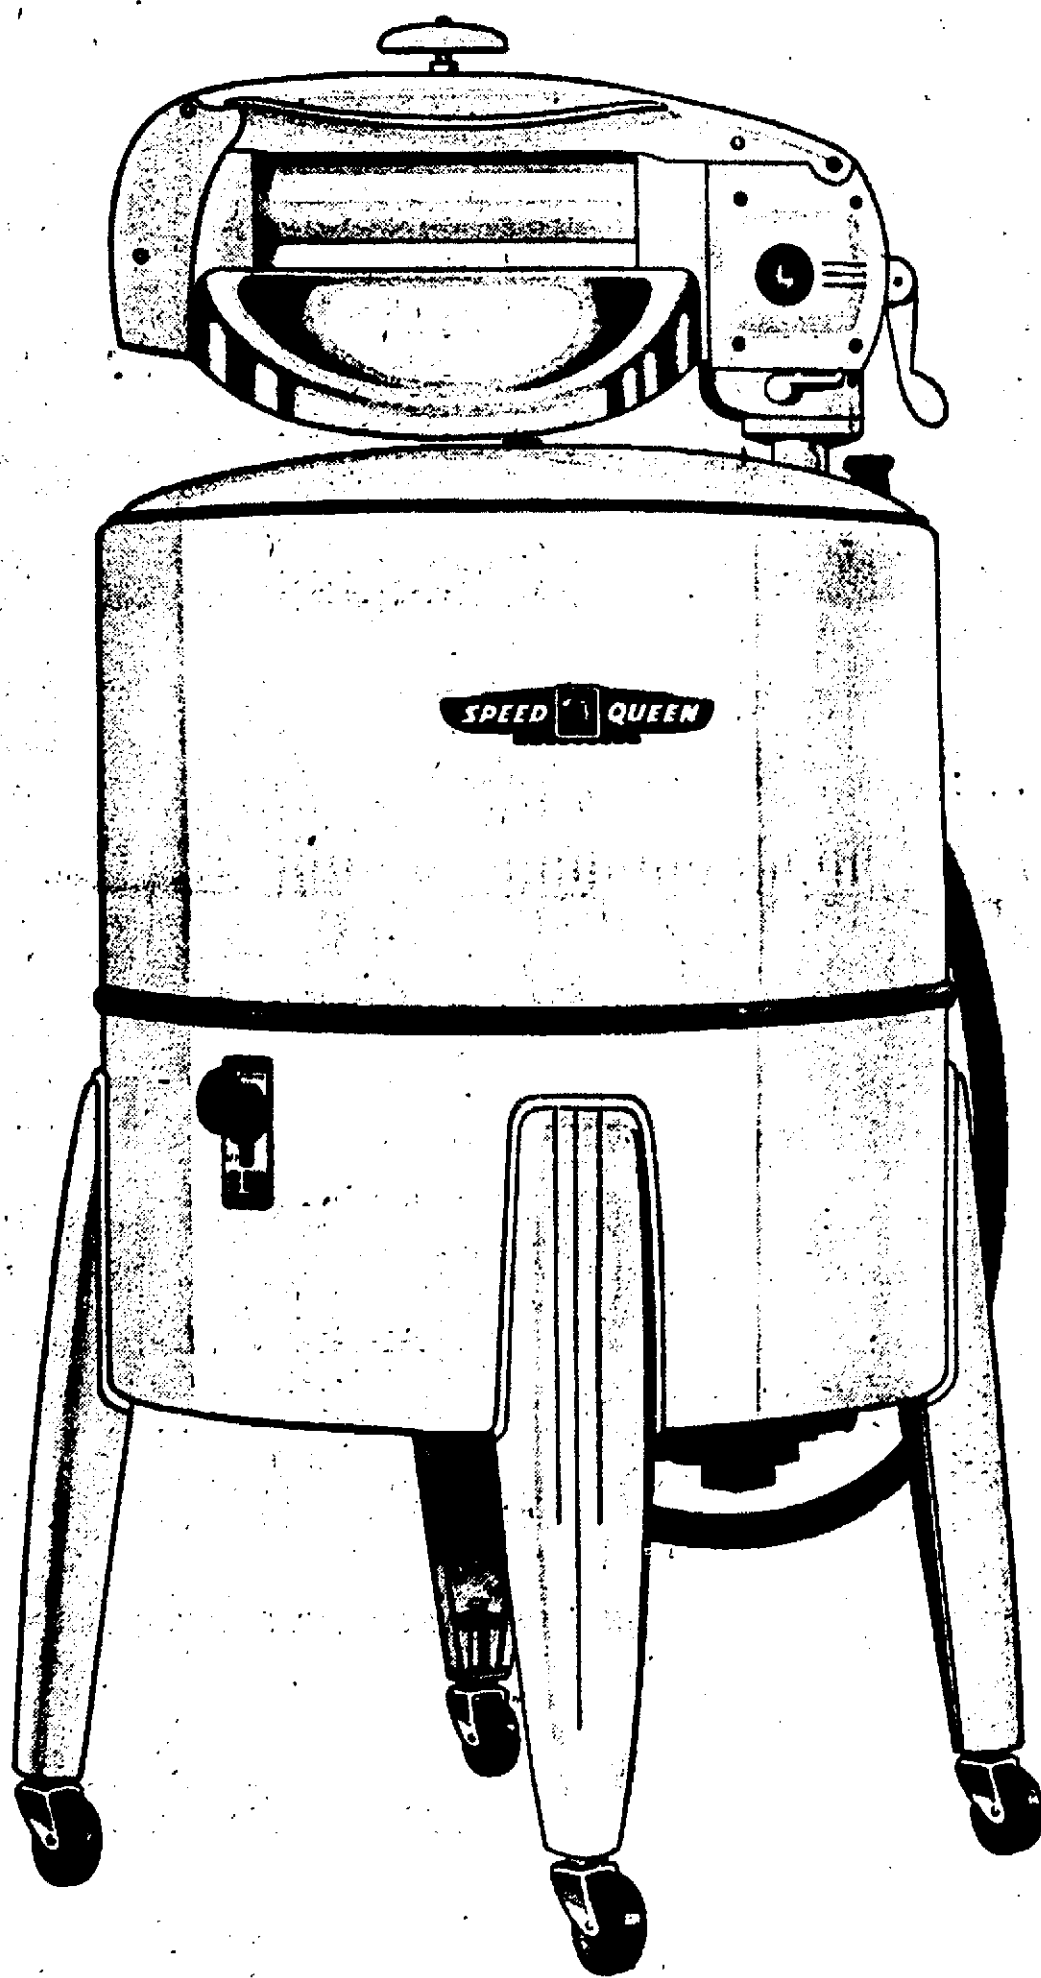

NEW YORK — Small-boat accidents kill about 1,200 Americans annually, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. reports. A fifth of the accidents occurred when the boats were swamped or the victims washed overboard. Many of those drowned had ignored bad weather, tipped the boat, overcrowded a boat, or been careless in other ways.

It's Fruitcake Time

BY CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor

It's not too soon to be thinking ahead to Christmas—if you have fruitcake making in mind. This recipe for that scrumptious holiday concoction should be baked a month to six weeks before Christmas so that the cakes are mellow. This fruit cake slices best when it has been allowed to age, and it remains moist.

You will note that the recipe directs keeping the cake in a cool place while it mellows. By cool place we mean a kitchen cabinet or pantry where the temperature is not inclined to go much beyond 70 degrees. If you do store the wrapped cakes at room temperature in this way, place them in a tightly covered tin box.

However, if you can spare the refrigerator space, the wrapped cakes will mellow even better there, and they slice wonderfully well when they are cold.

Stored in either place, the cakes should be wrapped in two thicknesses of heavy waxed paper or in one thickness of aluminum foil.

One more tip: Spread your fruitcake making over two days. On one day get the dried and candied fruit and nuts ready and mix with a cup of flour as the recipe directs. Next day prepare the batter, mix with the floured fruit and nuts and bake the cakes.

Note that this recipe calls for thrifty, convenient, and nutritious evaporated milk—and that it makes two to four loaves. Keep one or two for the family, give one or two gaily-wrapped loaves away. Since this fruit cake is neither dark nor light, but in between, a lot of eaters will enjoy it.

REMEMBRANCE FRUIT CAKE

Ingredients: 1/2 pound seedless raisins, 1/2 pound currants, 6 ounces citron, 2 ounces candied lemon peel, 2 ounces candied orange peel, 1/2 pound candied cherries, 4 ounces candied pineapple, 1/2 pound (about 2 cups) broken pecan or English walnut meats, 1 cup butter or margarine or shortening, 1 1/2 cups firmly packed brown sugar, 4 eggs (separated), 1 cup evaporated milk, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 2 1/2 cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1 teaspoon allspice, 1/2 teaspoon mace, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg.

Method—Rinse raisins and currants in hot water; drain well. Cut cherries in quarters. Slice pineapple thin. Nuts should be coarsely chopped or broken. Mix fruit and nuts in large bowl or pan. Add 1 cup of the flour and mix until fruit and nuts are well coated. Cream butter and sugar. Beat in egg yolks. Stir lemon juice into milk and add. Sift remaining 1 1/2 cups flour with baking powder, salt, cinnamon, cloves, allspice, mace and nutmeg. Stir into egg yolk mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry and fold in. Add batter to fruit mixture. Mix and stir only until blended. Grease pans lightly and line twice with heavy waxed paper. This mixture will make either four cakes 7 1/2 x 2 1/2 x 2 1/2 inches, or two cakes 8 1/2 x 4 1/2 x 2 1/2 inches. Divide mixture evenly and press into pans, leveling tops. If desired, decorate tops with additional pieces of candied fruits such as pineapple and cherries, and nuts. Bake in very slow (275F.) oven until done, about 2 hours for the small cakes, or about 2 1/2 hours for the larger cakes. (When cakes are done, they are lightly browned and tiny cracks begin to appear in the top. These cracks close when cakes cool.) Cool cakes in pans about 10 minutes, then turn out on racks and place right side up again to finish cooling. When ready to store cakes to ripen, remove waxed paper from them and rewrap either in clean waxed paper or aluminum foil. Keep in cool place until ready to use. Makes 6 pounds fruit cake.

Toy Hobby Now Grandad's Work

NORTH THETFORD, Vt. (U)—A heart attack two years ago put Frank M. Tilton into the big-time toy business. While ill, he began making old-fashioned wooden toys for his grandchildren who visited him.

They and their friends liked them so well that he soon found himself designing them for mass production. Now he has recovered his health and established a "Grandad's Toy Shop" across the road from his home, but he doesn't make many toys himself. Instead, his projects keep a couple of woodworking mills making and assembling parts. Tilton paints them.

Militia Trained

TAIPEH, Formosa. (U)—Governor K. C. Wu said recently that 1,150,000 persons have received militia training on Formosa. He told a mass rally that this was an important force for the defense of the island.

That's a Fact!

OWENSBORO, Ky. (U)—A reporter who recently addressed a publicity committee here on "Facts—Be Sure You've Got Them Straight," was a bit red-faced when he arrived to speak 45 minutes late.

He misread the invitation and went to the wrong town.

Try Tasty Cranberry Muffins

GOLDEN CRANBERRY MUFFINS made with pancake mix in a few minutes.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX

Easy? Oh, very! These cranberry muffins, rich with Thanksgiving flavor, can be made in a few minutes.

A speedy pancake ready-mix eliminates several steps in measuring and assures perfect, golden-crusted muffins every time. The chopped, raw cranberries permeate the batter in baking and lend a tingle-fresh fruit flavor that is a delightful surprise. Serve the muffins for luncheon with a creamed chicken or turkey main dish. Their tartness will be a delicious contrast.

(Makes 2 dozen tiny muffins)

One cup chopped raw cranberries, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 egg, beaten, 1 1/4 cups milk, 2 cups pancake ready-mix, 2 tablespoons melted shortening.

Mix chopped raw cranberries with sugar and allow to stand for 5 to 10 minutes. Add beaten egg and milk to pancake ready-mix. Mix lightly. Add sweetened cranberries. Fold in melted shortening. Fill greased muffin cups 3/4 full. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes.

Note: One cup whole cranberry sauce may be substituted for raw cranberries and sugar in the recipe. Proceed as above.

Old-fashioned Applesauce Raisin Bread is a fruity moist loaf. Its flavor mellows on standing for a day. Plump raisins, nutmeats and rolled oats make it a good addition for the children's lunch box.

Applesauce Raisin Bread (Makes 1 loaf)

One and one-half cups sifted enriched flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/2 cup brown sugar, 2 eggs, 1 cup thick, sweetened applesauce, 1 1/2 cups quick rolled oats, uncooked, 1 cup raisins, 1/2 cup coarsely chopped nutmeats, 1/2 cup melted shortening.

Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, salt and spices. Add brown sugar, eggs and applesauce. Beat until well blended. Fold in rolled oats, raisins, nutmeats and melted shortening. Pour batter into greased, waxed paper-lined loaf pan (1-pound size).

Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) one hour or until baked. Store in bread box one day before slicing.

River of Wine in 4 Colors

Moustache and Two Magic Words Make You a Taster

By WARD CANNEL
NEW YORK—(NEA)—It was a river of wine, flowing swiftly along the banks of tables heavy with food.
Seventeen new wines were on display and 350 connoisseurs had come to make a pilgrimage into the land of the fermented grape. With sniffs and sips they followed the stream as it changed color with each turn—white, red, pink, tawny.
"The whole idea in tasting wines," said Franz W. Sichel, a wine maker, "is to have the proper background."
And so the white wine adorned the fish; pink lapped at the turkey; and the red bubbled near the roast beef.

3. Roll a sip of wine in your mouth. Do not swallow it. If it tastes good, roll your eyes. Later spit the wine into a small bucket.
In the words of one professional taster, "If you drink three glasses of wine, you won't know what you are tasting."

The experts never smoke or eat spicy foods. Their tests are held in odor-free rooms where nothing will interfere with their senses.

A professional can identify the different types of grapes used in the wine, locate the vineyards, and pinpoint the age merely from a sip.

Alfred Fromm, who came to America as a wine taster, explained that in his day he was able to analyze wine with the best of them.

"But," he said, "when I took my first cigarette I stopped being a wine taster."

However, a spokesman for a vintners' association declared that heavy smokers should taste wines while they smoke.

"Keep the surroundings as natural as possible," he said. "After all, you are the one who is going to buy the wine."

The pilgrimage was still wandering from wine to wine. Sipping less and drinking more, their voices grew dimmer. At one point you could hear a gentleman asking, "How old is this brandy?"

A wine taster, who overheard him, said, "I will talk to him later and tell him that age is important, but that a bad wine gets worse with age."

Then a young lady near the roast beef said, "I just love champagne. It tickles my nose."

The wine taster said, "I will not talk to her. It would do no good."

Single file, slower and slower, the pilgrimage wandered along. Now and then a snatch of conversation drifted out.

"Don't say domestic, say American."

"You can drink white wine with meat."

"Any port in a storm..."
Later the line of sippers became a circle of wine consultants and professional tasters stationed here and there to pass information to the pilgrims.

In front of the Very Dry, for example, you could learn that the average Frenchman drinks 42 gallons of wine each year—41 gallons more than the average American.

At the tawny port you might find out that there are no rules for drinking wine. "The wine you like," said a consultant, "is the wine to drink."

If you looked up from your sparkling burgundy, you would hear that American wines are popular abroad, winning medals in competition with French and Italian.

And from a professional taster who was wiping a wine drop from his nose, you would find, "In the final analysis it's the individual who must judge wine for himself. Every man should be a wine taster."

To be a wine taster, you need only a moustache, a look of assurance, and a vocabulary of "bouquet" and "clean."

The process itself is simple:
1. Pour a little wine on your hands and rub them together. If your hands smell only of wine, you should say, "This is clean wine."

2. Hold the wine glass to your nose. If it smells nice, you say, "This has a lovely bouquet." But if it does not smell nice, then say, "This bouquet is not clean."

French-Cut Beans Fine With Turkey

By GAYNOR MADDOX

With your Thanksgiving turkey, Rosamond Chapin, a truly wonderful artist with foods, suggests French-cut green beans. But hers are different. I've relished them at the New Boston Inn, at New Boston, Mass., in Berkshire County, which she and her husband own. I'll let this hospitable and amazing hostess give her own directions.

Silvered or French-Cut Beans
"Buy only young and tender beans and slice these lengthwise as finely as you can," she says. "For gala occasions I always do this by hand because I can do it finer than any gadget ever made for this purpose. I cook my silvered beans as quickly as possible in a large saucepan full of boiling water to which I add a teaspoonful of baking soda before I put in my beans."

"When beans are tender, in about 10 minutes or less if you have silvered them finely enough, I drain them through a colander while running hot water from the faucet over them to remove all traces of the soda. I next melt plenty of butter in a wide saucepan. Into this I put my beans, still warm, but carefully drained after their bath."

"I season these with salt, white pepper and a dash of garlic salt while I shake the pan to distribute the seasoning as well as keep my beans from scorching. Be sure to put them into a warm dish to serve, and season them at the last possible moment. No beans ever tasted better than these."

"Gilded Yams: Parboil yams in their skins until nearly cooked, soft but not mushy. Peel and cut into halves. Place halves in single layer in much-buttered shallow pan, sprinkle with sugar and a dash of salt. Moisten slightly with a little orange juice. Place in 350 degree F. oven (moderate) and turn every five minutes or so, adding sugar or juice each time as necessary until yams are evenly glazed and slightly browned."

'Diamond Jim' Loved This Fish

FILLET OF SOLE Diamond Jim Brady, mincez, potatoes and baby peas for a fishy dinner.

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Diamond Jim Brady was fabulous for his diamonds and his appetite. One of his favorite dishes (not only for Friday) was Fillet of Sole Marguery.

At the recent annual American Spice Trade Association dinner in New York, we learned how to prepare this remarkable dish in a simplified modern form. So we pass along this prize recipe.

Fillet of Sole Marguery (Serves 4-6)

Eight fillets of sole (frozen), 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 leek (or one slice onion), chopped, 1 teaspoon parsley flakes, 6 peppercorns, 1 bay leaf, crumbled, 1/2 teaspoon powdered thyme, 1 1/2 cups sauteer (or chicken broth), 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1/4 pound butter, 1/2 cup heavy cream, 1/16 teaspoon cayenne, 8 small shrimp, boiled, 8 oysters, 1/2 teaspoon paprika, eliminate salt.

Place fillets, ends folded under, in greased baking dish. Sprinkle with salt, pepper, lemon juice, chopped leek or onion, parsley, peppercorns, bay leaf and thyme.

Four sauteer or chicken broth over the fillets and bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for 10 or 15 minutes, or until fish is tender. Carefully drain off remaining wine. With spoons, scrape off any vegetables or seasonings that may adhere to the fillets.

Strain the wine or chicken broth and put in top of double boiler. Combine 2 tablespoons flour and 2 tablespoons butter and stir, bit by bit, into the hot wine or broth. Then add the remaining butter and cook until dissolved. Add heavy cream and cayenne and cook until thickened.

Place a shrimp and an oyster on each fillet. Pour sauce over the fish, top with paprika and cook under broiler until brown.

Note: If chicken broth is used

HE SURE SOLD THE SALESMEN—One way to create a lasting impression on a customer is to wear a half-mustache, or so the sales instructor told students at The De Vilbiss Company's training school in Toledo, Ohio. Sudden, and awful proof of the effectiveness of his sales course was given at the next session, when class turned out with half-brushes in all shapes and sizes. The instructor probably will weigh all future suggestions with great care before voicing them.

Record Wheat Crop in Turkey

ISTANBUL (U)—Turkey has a record wheat crop this year—thanks in part to U. S. assistance—but may have trouble selling the surplus abroad.

There are two reasons: Other wheat-growing countries also had good crops, and are competing in the world market. Turkey's asking price is higher than the going rate, because the Turkish government paid the farmer a high price for his wheat.

The government's "Office of Sales Products" buys directly from the Turkish farmer a good share of the wheat raised here. The independent newspaper Hurriyet said the crop of six million tons should

Art Exhibit Seen

VENICE (U)—More than 30,000 Americans, 12,000 British, and 30,000 French visited the Biennial Art Exhibition here between June and October.

The exhibition, which closed in October, was seen by over 200,000 people. About half were foreigners, officials said. The largest art exhibition in Europe, it displayed 3,439 art works. Some 250 art works were sold during the exhibition for a total of almost $100,000.

Glass, as an engineering product, can be made lighter than cork and almost as heavy as iron. It also can be made in mechanical strength stronger than iron.

Try This Fine Stuffing for Holiday Bird

By GAYNOR MADDOX

In all my travels, I have never met any better cook than Rosemond Chapin, opera singer, who, with her husband Russell, owns the authentic New England "New Boston Inn" in Berkshire county, Massachusetts. She combines warmth, expansiveness and skill into the kind of hospitality that warms the cockles of your heart and makes your stomach purr with happiness.

Mrs. Chapin is a master of the non-gorging Thanksgiving Feast. So let's listen to her from here on.

"With all sorts of fancy turkey dressings to choose from, I have come to prefer a simple bread and onion dressing artfully seasoned," she says.

"Turkey Stuffing: Simmer until soft and transparent, two cups of finely sliced or chopped onions in 1/2 pound of butter. And it must be butter! When onions are sufficiently cooked add a quart of milk and continue to simmer until milk is hot.

"In a large mixing bowl have ready, eight cups of slightly stale white bread cut into small cubes. I trim most of the crust from mine. On top of the bread throw a generous handful of finely chopped parsley, one tablespoonful of poultry seasoning, one teaspoonful of salt, one-half teaspoonful of garlic salt, one-half teaspoonful of white pepper, one-half teaspoonful of celery salt, one-half teaspoonful of curry powder.

"Pour the hot milk and onion mixture over the seasoned bread and mash and mix well with a potato masher. When thoroughly mixed, add four eggs well beaten first. The dressing should be soft but not runny when it goes into turkey as it hardens during the cooking process. If dressing is too soft, add a bit more bread. If too hard, increase the milk.

"In stuffing the turkey, I fill the main cavity only, and keep the dressing in place with a couple of slices of bread which in turn are held firmly by tightly tying the legs to the tail. The wings I simply lock back toward the pan.

"In the neck cavity I put a quartered California orange, skin and all. This imparts a delicate flavor and aroma to both bird and gravy."

SHUBENACADIE, Canada (U)—For about as long as he can remember G. G. Nelson has been bringing his old gas buggy out of retirement each year. The Model 1 Pope-Tribune came off the production line in 1900.

It was retired after nine years of faithful service but his love for the vehicle remained and he soon started to bring it out of retirement annually. Still in good condition, the buggy is capable of a top speed of 30 miles an hour. "I imagine that pictures of the car, many of them with tourist visitors sitting in it, now are in about every province in Canada as well as every state of the United States," he says.

The vehicle is powered by a one-cylinder engine, rated at six horsepower, and has a water-cooled head. There are seats for two—but no extra comforts.
